

Submission Guidelines

Croatian Journal of Education (CJE) is an international peer-reviewed academic journal intended for scientists from all fields of education and related sciences. CJE accepts for publication only scientific research papers which are original primary publications, i.e. papers which have not been previously published in any journal (previous publication in Conference Proceedings has to be specified). Thus, having been accepted by reviewers, the papers published in the journal contribute to the scientific community.

Croatian Journal of Education publishes research and professional papers which directly or indirectly reflect the topics related to academic theoretical and applied disciplines both in Croatia and abroad. The editorial board aims for CJE to be a place where scientists from different disciplines, but with studies that are closely related to education, will be able to publish the results of their scientific research as well as professional and theoretical studies.

Papers in the Croatian Journal of Education are published in English language with a text version (without illustrations) in Croatian language.

Paper Acceptance Procedure

The Editor-in-Chief reads all submitted papers and assigns a general priority level. Papers are compared to the standard and the concept of the journal, then the methodology is preliminary reviewed, and after that they are sent to reviewers. Following the review procedure the papers are returned to the authors with reviewers' suggestions for the improvement, or are rejected. The editorial board members read the revised paper and, provided adequate improvements have been made, it is selected for publication according to its categorization.

- Papers have to be previously unpublished and they cannot be under consideration for publication in other journals; however, if the paper has been submitted somewhere else, the editorial board of Croatian Journal of Education should be notified.
- The submission file should be in Open Office or Microsoft Word document file format.
- Where available, URL links appearing in the text should be enabled.
- The text of the paper should be edited in accordance with the Submission Guidelines.

The decision regarding publication will be made by the editorial board after considering the reviewers' recommendations. The editorial board is under no obligation to provide justification of its decision regardless of whether the paper is accepted or rejected.

Languages accepted for the categorized papers are English with Croatian translation of the text (without illustrations). Authors are obliged to submit the paper in both languages and they take full responsibility for the quality of the translated text. Authors who do not submit their paper in both languages will be offered a translation for a fee according to the market price of 150 kunas (20€) per standard page. The fee will be paid after the paper has been accepted and before its publication. Standard page size is 1800 characters with spaces. Proofreading is provided for all well-prepared texts, however, all texts which require more than 16 proofreading corrections per standard page will be charged additionally in the amount of 60 kunas (8€) per standard page. All prices include VAT.

Copyright and availability of papers. Copyright fees are generally defined only for the requested papers, in accordance with the corresponding regulations. After submitting their paper for publication in Croatian Journal of Education, authors accept, without additional conditions, the regulations according to which their papers will be published in the journal, as well as the publication of the paper in full or partially on the Croatian Journal of Education web site, i.e. the web site of the Faculty of Teacher Education in Zagreb and other related electronic portals. By submitting their papers to Croatian Journal of Education, authors accept the above-mentioned conditions.

Permissions and Consents

Authors certify that copies of all permissions to reproduce published material, to use illustrations, report information about identifiable people, or to name people for their contributions are submitted along with the manuscript.

All the employed research instruments need to be legally obtained, in other words the authors are obliged to present a written consent by the rightsholder, the publisher or the author, granting them the right to use the instrument.

Reviewers

Prior to publication, every paper is peer-reviewed. Each submitted paper is reviewed by a minimum of two independent reviewers who are all prominent scientists in their field of study and they independently evaluate submitted papers. Reviewers generally do not receive a fee, but the journal keeps a record of successful review procedures for each reviewer individually. At any given time, the reviewers may obtain the statistical data about the completed reviews for the purpose of their scientific advancement.

When other people's syntagms, ideas, data, terms, etc. are cited, the source should be given in the text and not in the footnotes. References are given in brackets and should contain the author's surname, year of publication and, in the case of a verbatim quotation, the page number (e.g. Rossi & Cassidy, 1999, p. 24; Vilke, 1993, p. 23). If the referenced work has more than two authors, both the first time the reference occurs and in subsequent citations only the surname of the first author should be included followed by et al. and the year of publication (e.g. Pastuović et al., 2003, p. 35), except where this would create ambiguity. When paraphrasing, the author's name is written and the year of publication is given in brackets (e.g. Horvat (2001) claims that; Zarevski and Tominac (2008) maintain...). The reference list at the end of the paper (References) should include full information about all the works that are referred to in the paper, in alphabetical order according to the author's surname (the works of the same author should be listed chronologically), in Latin alphabet. Furthermore, the publisher's location is excluded from the reference list. The titles in the reference list need to be given in the language of the original, and their English translation should be given in square brackets []. When electronic sources are referenced, the exact web site from which the information was retrieved has to be stated and active links (hyperlinks) enabled. DOIs are formatted the same as URLs. URLs are not preceded by „Retrieved from“, unless a retrieval date is needed. The website name is included (unless it's the same as the author).
